

Jump!

for the Children's Heart Center

Khan Lab School students are jump roping to support Lucile Packard Children's Hospital this Valentine's Day → khanlabschool.org/jump

This event connects to Independence Level 5's term project on addressing the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals – specifically, Goal 3: Good Health and Well-being.

One of our youngest students was born with a congenital heart anomaly, and he shares his story with classmates each year. We wanted to choose a benefiting organization that our students could make a personal connection with, to help them understand the importance of giving back. Please join us!
