

Black Women & Sexuality

How HIV Impacts Us Now!

It's Time To Change The Narrative.

Let's start a new narrative about our sexuality and health status. While the nation is focused on abortion rights, nearly 60% of all new HIV diagnosis is among Black Women and we're only 15% of the population. How is this possible?

- In the south, the rate of infection is at epidemic proportions
- Black women 40+ are most at risk
- The disease is being transmitted primarily by heterosexual sex

This program provides useful information for sexually active or for those who want to be sexually active. Let's discuss how we can help each other and change the narrative about protecting the most intimate part of ourselves.

This presentation will also feature author, motivational speaker and HIV patient advocate, Dawn Breedon who will share her experience of living with HIV.

Dr. Tamara Henry

Teaching Associate, Professor/Practicum Director, The George Washington University, Milken Institute School of Public Health, Prevention and Community Health

DATE: Thursday, June 22nd

TIME: 7PM EST

REGISTER NOW: <https://bit.ly/3C5eRlp>

Join the virtual conversation on June 22nd!

MERCK

BHM
BLACK HEALTH
MATTERS.COM

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc.®
Sigma Omega Omega Chapter

Tau Epsilon Omega Chapter and Twenty Pearls Foundation, Inc.